

Prime Oak

Prime Oak wood is famed for its overall strength and the natural beauty of its grain. It is an extremely hard-wearing timber, perfect to use as a highly durable work surface. The grain is straight with lovely mid brown tones and the variation in both colour and knotting makes Oak so full of character and charm.

Rustic Oak

With a colour not dissimilar to Prime oak but a wider variation in tone, Rustic Oak is chosen for its natural characteristics like prominent grain pattern & larger more frequent knots. It is perfect for those wanting to enhance the personality of their kitchen, giving a more traditional and unique appearance.

Walnut

Walnut is the perfect choice for those wanting to add a touch of elegance to a kitchen. Renowned for its durable dense grain and rich brown tones, your worktops will be both long lasting and timeless in their beauty.

Our Walnut species have been selected for the character emphasised by the variance in colour and wilder grain pattern. The attractiveness of these inconsistencies have increased its popularity with designers worldwide.

Iroko

Iroko is often compared to teak and well known for its durability. With its natural colour being initially quite yellow, its appearance will darken over time to a rich golden brown. These brown hues and the medium to coarse grain pattern work well with most types of kitchen styles.

Wenge

Exotic Timbers tend to be more distinctive and bold in colour and grain, with Wenge definitely standing out from the crowd. Rich dark brown in colour and extremely robust and durable, its grain offers the wood almost blackish tones to give it an ebony like appearance. It is often a go to choice with many designers using it for Islands and seating areas.

Ash

Lighter timbers like Blonde Woods blend effortlessly into a design and can often be less oppressive than some of the more darker timbers. Their luminosity is known for creating a feeling of light and it is often said that its graceful finish creates a soothing space and sense of calm. Ash has a lovely straight regular grain and a delightful pale creamy colour. It is a great all purpose timber with great strength.

Sapele

Prime Beech

Rustic Beech

Epoxy Oak

More than a Worksurface

With our flexible range of bespoke services and solutions, our product offering extends to usage within other areas. Ranging from Shelving, Table tops, Bar tops, Furniture Panels and Staircase components, catering for those thinking outside the box across both domestic and commercial sectors.

